

Michael Chang

Biography

Michael Chang is currently overseeing the global pipeline for DreamWorks Animation. His department provides technical support for artists and is responsible for the smooth transition of data within and among various departments and movies at the studio. He most recently completed work on the animated hit comedy "Madagascar."

Chang began his career at the studio in 1996, where he worked in a technical capacity on various commercials and effects projects including the animated comedy "Antz." Within the field of commercials, he worked on several high profile projects for Intel, Kool-Aid, L'Oréal, Visa and Sega. In the live action realm, Chang has served as a technical supervisor on several films including "Minority Report" and "The Legend of Bagger Vance." Chang also recently served as a technical consultant on DreamWorks Animation's animated television series "Father of the Pride" which aired on NBC.

Prior to joining the entertainment industry, Chang worked at XMission in Utah which is the state's largest local internet service provider. He holds a degree in Computer Engineering from the University of Utah.